Jury Finds Hacker Guilty

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

It took the jury less than 2 hours last week to return a guilty verdict in the murder trial of Ray Hacker, Jr. Hacker was initially arrested on Sunday, June 13th, 2010 after law enforcement officials responded to a home on Hwy 2003 to what was originally called in as a lady being shot by a BB gun. Upon arrival the law enforcement agents discovered Gerilyn Walerski, 52 of McKee lying dead in the bathroom with a single gunshot wound to the head. A 22 rifle was found lying close by. Hacker was discovered prior to entering the home lying face down on a porch. Witnesses at the scene reported that the two were engaged in a heated argument prior to the shooting. Hacker and Walerski were living together.

After approximately 30 minutes of deliberating during a penalty phase, the jury recommended a sentence of 30 years for the crime. Sentencing has been scheduled to occur on April 3rd, 2012.

Non-injury accident leads to arrests

On Wednesday, February 15th Sgt. Starlin Hacker responded to an auto accident south of McKee on Highway 421. EMS was on the scene and did not transport. However, Sgt. Hacker arrested the driver Elaine Henson, age 40 of Manchester, for driving under the influence and possession of controlled substance 3rd deg. Also arrested was Justin Henson, age 22, of Manchester for public intoxication controlled substance (excludes alcohol). Elaine Henson was released on February 16th under a surety of $10,000.00 and Justin Henson was also released on February 16th with a surety of $500. Both are scheduled for arraignment on March 12, 2012.

Meth Lab Found

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

On February 14th, 2012 at approximately 7:59 pm an anonymous tip was received by the Sheriff's Department in reference to meth being manufactured at a residence located at 1830 Lodge Hall Road.

Byrd Responds

In response to last week's story on Paul Byrd, he wants to clarify some issues.

According to Mr. Byrd, he pled guilty to a lesser charge which is a misdemeanor. He stated he did this because it had already been dragged out for six months and he just wanted it over so he could get back to his life. With the plea, he was put on probation and didn't have to serve any jail time. He also stated that the witness had never appeared in court against him and his phone was returned to him after the plea.

Meth Lab

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

On Monday, February 20th, 2012 at approximately 3:40 pm a male walked into the Sheriff's Office with what he believed to be a meth lab. Upon further investigation it was determined by Deputy Sizemore and Deputy Goforth that the contents of the bag was in fact an active one-step lab. The lab had been discovered by the individual near Weaver Road along Hwy 290 near Laurel Fork. Drug Enforcement Special Investigations (D.E.S.I.) was contacted to dismantle and to neutralize the active ingredients.

Sheriff Peyman wants to warn the citizens of Jackson County of the danger of handling or transporting an active meth lab. The active ingredients in a one step lab are very unstable and highly combustible. Sheriff Peyman further warns that even if a citizen is trying to do the right thing (as in the case on Monday) there is an inherent risk. If that person had been pulled over by an Officer they could have been charged with manufacturing meth. It is the advise of Sheriff Peyman that if any citizen should locate what they believe to be a meth lab to contact the Sheriff's Department and let the authorities handle the matter.

Sheriff Peyman inspects the bag that contains an active meth lab.

From small towns in the South to remote areas of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska, the show called “Finding Bigfoot” follow four eccentric but passionate Bigfoot enthusiasts as they embark on one single-minded mission: to find the elusive "creature" known as Bigfoot. In the most recent episode airing on February 19th, 2012 the team travels to Kentucky to investigate a piece of footage that seems to show the glowing eyes of a bigfoot. With locals reporting activity in Daniel Boone National Forest, the team tries a new search technique to see there really are BigFoots in Kentucky.

One of the individuals interviewed by “Finding Bigfoot” was ex-Sheriff Tim Fee. Fee said that early one morning on his property in New Zion he saw his dog chasing a figure that he thought had come from his barn. The figure then leaped a fence and crossed the road near his house. Although the evidence was anecdotal at best, the representatives from “Finding Bigfoot” were convinced he saw Bigfoot.

The shows can be seen Sundays at 10pm on Animal Planet. One may also view interview with Fee at the following Animal Planet web site:

Universal Service Fund Update from PRTC

The “Universal Service Fund” – a program overseen by theFederal Communications Commission (FCC) and funded through contributions paid by telecom providers across the country – has been essential in making sure rural consumers like you have access to high-quality networks and affordable telecom services. But rule changes just made by the FCC and others still being considered put rural networks and services at risk.

The FCC’s stated goal in making these rule changes – to ensure that all of America has comparable access to the Internet – is admirable. Reliable, high-speed broadband has become the essential service of today, like electricity and telephone service were decades ago. Broadband can improve the lives of all consumers, but access is especially important for those of us living in rural America. The Internet enables farmers to monitor weather patterns and ranchers to buy and sell livestock in markets far from home. It also gives small businesses the opportunity to reach customers nationwide, offers local students the chance to take classes online, and allows doctors to remotely diagnose patients and even offer remote emergency care.

But the new rules don’t promote these objectives. Instead, they cut support revenues from theUniversal Service Fund for many smaller, locally-based cooperatives and commercial telecom providers such as ours. And the rules still being considered by the FCC threaten to cut even more support for many more small telcos. It’s hard to reconcile the commentary about connecting all of America with the actual impact of the new rules and the threatened impacts of the rules still being considered. The UniversalService Fund cuts arising out of the new rules will put existing investment in rural broadband at risk, and they will chill investment in new broadband-capable networks by small companies going forward. The FCC’s cuts could also lead to increased rates for many customers for telephone, broadband and other services.

Years ago, Congress established a universal service policy for telephone service. It required that those living in rural areas have access to communications services at prices that are affordable and reasonably comparable to those available in urban areas. The Universal Service Fund is essential to carrying out this policy. But rather than supporting true universal service, the FCC’s new rules promise faster,better service to some Americans while guaranteeing lesser service at higher cost for others.

Don’t let the FCC keep our rural community on the slow side of a broadband digital divide. Don’t let the FCC adopt policies that will require rural consumers to pay higher rates for telephone service and slower broadband. Contact your congressional representatives and urge them to support regulatory action that ensures equal and affordable access to broadband for all Americans. Ask your representatives to help make sure that the new rules are implemented in a manner that is fair for all rural consumers and consistent with true universal service. Ask your representatives to tell the FCC to stop pressing for new rules that will only make matters worse. Contact our office at 287-7101 to learn more about this issue and how you can help or visit saveruralbroadband.org.

USDA INVITES MINORITY PRODUCERS TO JOIN USDA MINORITY FARM REGISTER

The U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Farm Service Agency is inviting minority farmers and ranchers to join the USDA Minority Farm Register to receive information and opportunities from USDA agencies.

“The new Minority Farm Register is an outreach tool to reach underserved farmers and ranchers who are not currently enrolled in USDA loan, farm or conservation programs,” said Gregory W. Kerr, Ellis County FSA county executive director. “The Register is a shared outreach list that will help USDA, community-based organizations and minority-serving educational institutions to communicate with minority farmers and ranchers.”

By joining the Register, minority producers will receive outreach materials, newsletters and program announcements from USDA agencies. They also can receive information and assistance from other USDA-approved outreach partners, such as community-based organizations, faith-based organizations and minority-serving educational institutions. USDA will control access to and use of the Register.

Individuals wishing to join the Register must sign and date a form that provides their name and address. Providing phone numbers, e-mail address, race, ethnicity, gender and farm or ranch location will be voluntary, although the additional information increases the producer’s opportunities for receiving timely assistance.

The Register pamphlet wit the registration form is available at the Jackson County USDA Service Center or from approved USDA outreach partners. Completed forms may be mailed to: USDA Minority Farm Register, USDA Stop Code 0503, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250. FSA and USDA’s Office of Advocacy and Outreach are jointly administering the Register. Registration forms are available in Spanish (AD020335SP) and English (AD-2035) on the FSA web side (www.fsa.usda.gov) under “Forms”.

An individual may remove his or her name from the Register by writing to the Minority Farm Register, USDA Stop Code 0503, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250.

USDA NRCS in Kentucky Announces February 29, 2012 as the Second Application Period for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP)

The USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Kentucky is encouraging landowners, farmers and producers to visit their local NRCS office now to receive more information and apply for conservation technical assistance and possible financial assistance opportunities. The application process for 2008 Farm Bill conservation programs is continuous, but funding selections are made at specific times throughout the year. The first Kentucky NRCS application ranking cutoff date for consideration for 2012 Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) funding was November 15, 2011. A second sign up period has been announced and will run through February 29, 2012.

Applications for the following programs will be accepted during this period:

- The Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) is a conservation program that provides financial and technical assistance to farmers who face threats to soil, water, air, and related natural resources on their land. Through EQIP, NRCS develops contracts with agricultural producers to voluntarily implement conservation practices. Persons engaged in livestock or agricultural production and owners of non-industrial private forestland are eligible for this program. Eligible land includes cropland, rangeland, pastureland, private non-industrial forestland, and other farm or ranch lands.

- The Mississippi River Basin Healthy Watersheds Initiative (MRBI) began in 2009 with a goal of reducing, mitigating and controlling nutrient levels in surface waters, thus improving the water quality in small watersheds within the Mississippi River Basin. In conjunction with multiple partners, including state agencies, conservation districts, environmental groups, and farming interests, NRCS Kentucky has three MRBI focus watersheds with boundaries entirely in Kentucky: Licking River, Lower Green River and the Bayou de Chien-Mayfield Creek. Eligible land within specific subwatersheds of the focus areas can take advantage of focused EQIP financial and technical assistance to develop contracts, which address resource con-

It is a bittersweet story. The JCHS Generals and Lady Generals ended their regular basketball seasons last week and also closed a chapter in Jackson County history. The two teams played host for the last time to games in the old JCHS gymnasium. The Generals ended their season on Thursday, February 16th, 2012 when they hosted Bell County. The Lady Generals ended their season the following night (Friday, February 17th, 2012) when they hosted Pineville.

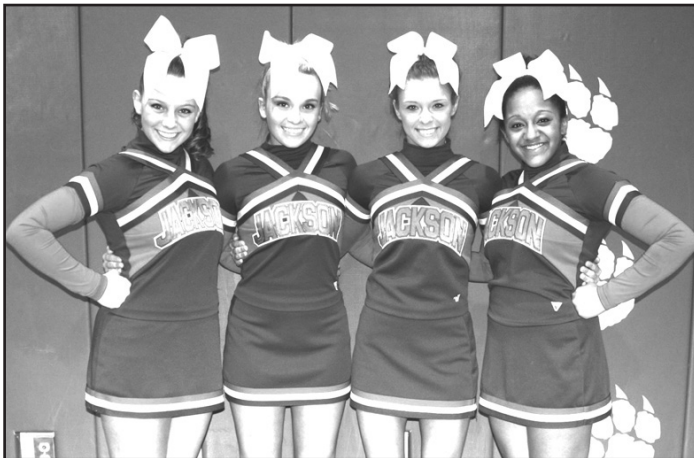

The Generals began the odyssey when the team moved into the building halfway through the 1966-1967 school year. The head coach was Mr. Bruce Morris with Mr. Rex Combs assisting him. Seniors Doyle Williams, Jerry Lunsford, Danny Cook, Larry Lunsford and Jimmy Martin provided leadership on the court. The pendulum made a full swing when Head Coach Greg Parrett embraced his three seniors (Justin Fox, Adam Duncan and Josh Horn) as they left the home court for last time Thursday night.

The Lady Generals program didn't realize itself until the fall of 1974 when the school came into compliance with the requirements of Title IX and established equal opportunity for the girls to participate in the basketball program. The first head coach was Linda Tillery with Carol Brunstein assisting her. The Lady Generals (referred to then as the Generalettes) opened their first season at home on November 12th, 1974 against Owsley County. Led by the outstanding play of Pam Hignite and Lisa Hays the team ended the first season with a record of 7-6. The co-captains of the team were Benda Wilson and Vickie Hensley.

The doors to the old JCHS home court era were officially closed when Senior Laura Bowman and Coach Candice Gray defeated Pineville in overtime on Friday, February 17th, 2012. It was like the old gym just couldn't say goodbye without one last extra overtime.

NO COURT DUE TO THE WEATHER

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor,

The Health and Welfare committee of the Kentucky House of Representatives unanimously passed HB 364 on February 16. This was a critical vote not only as a first step towards a solution to our broken child welfare system; it was a committee of legislators doing what is right for Kentucky’s most innocent, vulnerable, and overlooked suffering citizens. State-agency-children, those in the temporary or permanent custody of the Cabinet for Health and Family Services, are the ultimate responsibility of state government. I applaud Representative Yonts, the cosponsors of the bill, and the entire committee for hearing and acting on behalf of these kids. Now, will making the needs of this voiceless population remain a priority as HB 364 goes to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee?

Families, not government should raise children. However, when families, for any reason, cannot or will not provide safe places to live, caring oversight, sufficient food, and unconditional love to the children, someone else must.

Every day, individuals, families, businesses, and governments have to make tough budget decisions. Wisdom dictates that we make decisions carefully, giving full consideration of what is truly important. It is not easy or comfortable, but when money is tight, a line must be established between the things that are essential and the things that are optional; between the many issues that are important and the ones that are a must. Shouldn’t the neglected, abused, victimized kids of Kentucky be a frontline issue at the top of the priority list for us?

The violence and damage done to a child by a parent or guardian not only harms that child, but all too often, that cycle of abuse is repeated in the next generation. Recent headlines across Kentucky have made it quite evident that child abuse continues to plague every county in Kentucky. Lawmakers must work to make sure that there is adequate funding to prevent and identify abuse, hold those accountable who have abused, and most importantly, help those children who have suffered.

New or renovated sports arenas, park projects, community centers and other revenue-demanding initiatives can all be beneficial to society, but when those things take precedence over the well-being and safety of our children, it signals that we have confused our priorities.

Our elected officials are under public scrutiny; they cannot please us all. However, I think we can all agree that the House Health and Welfare Committee deserve our thanks and support for putting the kids first. Good job. Now we ask the Appropriations and Revenue Committee to do the same.

Senator Robert Stivers’ Frankfort Report

We have reached the half-way point of the 2012 General Assembly Session. There are daily committee meetings, policy briefings, visits from constituents, and meetings with various advocacy groups.

Senate Bill 50 will make pseudoephedrine prescription-only in order to cut down on meth labs. I sponsored a similar bill last year and I was very happy to see it pass the Judiciary Committee this week. We have heard testimony from both law-enforcement and former users; cutting down access to a precursor drug will decrease the number of meth labs. It has worked in other states.

In addition, we passed House Bill 121 that will require all POW flags sold in Kentucky to be made in the United States. These flags represent our men and women who gave up a portion of their lives, undergoing mistreatment and worse, in defense of America. It is only correct that these symbols be made through American labor.

I would like to give you an update on some of the other major issues being discussed in Frankfort. As many of you have heard, Senate Bill 151, the casino bill, was introduced this week. It would provide for up to seven full casinos around Kentucky, some at horse-tracks, others free-standing. It would give monopolies of the licenses free to the horse tracks. There is no other state that gives constitutional protection to a private company. Any revenue would go to vague and general purposes such as job creation, education, social services, and the horse industry. We don’t know how much or exactly for what precise purpose. The lottery was supposed to go to the lottery as well, as you may recall. The constitutional amendment is being heard next week in committee. Many people find the language fuzzy. I will keep you posted on the evolving events.

Also this week, the Senate Health and Welfare Committee heard again from the Medicaid managed care companies. We are getting flooded with phone calls, emails, and messages from both providers and patients with legitimate complaints of late payments and delayed authorizations, often for procedures that should be routine. In one incredible case, a woman in labor arrived at the hospital and the managed care organization required a pre-authorization before reimbursing. Fourteen days later with both mom and baby safe at home, the company still hadn’t authorized the birth! The committee asked for a timetable for the correction of these problems.

The Governor recently announced the membership of his tax-reform commission that is charged with looking at Kentucky’s tax code and making recommendations to the 2013 General Assembly. To be frank, he appointed no one who is an economist or tax expert or accountant. With one or two exceptions, they are advocates who either have a history of wanting higher taxes to fund their causes or are on the record as favoring the redistribution of wealth. You can be sure that legislators will be watching the actions of this task force closely.

INSPIRATIONAL THOUGHTS INTO GOD’S WORD

Author: Lynetta Hunter truevinebook.com

John 3:17, 8:1-11

The religious leaders brought her in before Jesus right in the middle of a bible study. They called Him Master in a shrewdly way, not because He was their teacher, for they wouldn’t allow Him to be. The sin of committing adultery that the woman was accused of was not rare or uncommon, she just happened to be the one they chose to use as a way of deceitfully slandering Jesus this day. The details of this conspiracy which was brought about by the Scribes and Pharisees can only be imagined, but the event itself proves their evil and cruel intent. The high ranking officials had the authority to twist the law for their own self desires, but were all too willing to pursue its authenticity for the sake of condemning and criticizing others. The few details mentioned about the woman don’t make her any less unreal or insignificant. The majority of us fall into her category. As she unwillingly entered into the presence of Jesus in the temple, her embarrassment, feeling of self-worthlessness, and hurt from being deceived, used and abused surely must have been overwhelming.

She sincerely thought she had been brought to a place where her death was destined, but would soon realize this was a place where she would find true life. Jesus soon began revealing the truth concerning her accusers. As they walked away one by one, God’s grace and forgiveness began ushering into the heart of the woman. Her feeling of hurt, loneliness and condemnation of sin and death began to dwindle and to be replaced with Jesus’ kindness and acceptance until she found herself alone in His presence, surrounded by the sweetness and pleasantness of God’s redemptive love. She was released from the bondage of mankind’s judgment and evil intentions and became free to stand alone with Jesus as her Savior.

Jesus set her free from sin that day; after all, she wasn’t the one who was being hypocritical. Our judgment and evil intent will never override the grace and spiritual perception of Jesus. Someone we may see worthy of death could be perceived by God as worthy of His grace. The religious leaders got caught in their sins and walked away more shameful than the woman they judged into a death sentence.

We may be as the woman with overwhelming pain and shamefulness of rejection and criticism, openly the center of negative attention, positioned right in the middle of ‘church folks’. It’s comforting to know we have a Creator and Father who acts according to righteous judgment. This experience of finding life while being condemned to death was truly a bittersweet event she would never forget.

“A Simple Man”

Margaret Faye Hensley
Part 20

Today I want to tell Liza Jane about the time my sister almost drowned in the river, thought Clarence. He had started a list of topics on a piece of paper, so that he would not forget to tell her about. There were days where he could remember vivid details of his life, and then more often lately, he just couldn’t conjure up pictures in his mind. He tried not to stress when that happened, but he did write down the topic so that he could think of it later.

The trees surrounding the house were starting to turn orange and red. Jake had planted trees to line the driveway to the house, and they all starting to turn yellow. It would be absolutely beautiful in the next couple of weeks there in the mountains. Liza was glad they had chosen this time of year for her extended visit. She had planned to fit in a morning walk each day, and had yet to accomplish that. She told Clarence that she was starting today, and she asked him not plan any outings until after dinner. Liza Jane put on her tennis shoes and consulted her daddy as to which direction would be a good walking path for her. Clarence would have liked to walk also, but it wore him out to do too much physical activity. He directed her to walk out the length of the holler and get out on the paved road which had mountains on both sides of the road. Since it was still entirely possible that rattlesnakes and copperheads were a threat, Clarence insisted that she not walk alone. He had asked Jake to come walk with her when she announced that today she would begin her daily walks. Liza thought he was being a bit overprotective, but then again, she didn’t want to face a menacing snake by herself either. Just as she stood to walk off the porch, Jake pulls in the driveway on his four wheeler. He had traded his working boots for tennis shoes, and had his cap turned around backward. “I hear I am needed as a snake-guard this morning!” Jake yelled out. He had a walking stick and a knife, and was ready to take off. As Liza Jane stepped off the porch, she asked her daddy what he was going to do while they walked, and he told her he had a list he was working on and that he would be fixing a good dinner. Liza kissed the top of his head and told him that she hoped they would actually see a snake, and just then he grabbed his pad and pen and scribbled a couple of words to remind him of a snake story he wanted to tell her!

He was thinking clearly this morning, and he decided he would write a lot of ideas on his list for future reference. He didn’t waste an opportunity to capture his thoughts, he decided.

Fascinating Fact

In English pubs, ale is ordered by pints and quarts... So in old England, when customers got unruly, the bartender would yell at them 'Mind your pints and quarts, and settle down.' This is where we get the phrase “mind your P's and Q's”

Generals Rally But Fall Short

Senior Justin Fox floats in a jumper while Senior Adam Duncan positions himself for a rebound in the 49th District Tournament.

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter
In collaboration with Greg Parrett
Head Coach, JCHS Generals

“Unfortunately our season ended a few games quicker than we planned. We really felt going into the game that we could defeat a very good Clay County team. Our kids gave a great effort especially in the second half. We were basically equal in every statistical category with Clay County except 3-point field goal percentage. The rebounding edge went to Clay County 27-25 (one of the categories that concerned us). The Generals turned the ball over 11 times compared to 12 times for Clay County (The Generals guards did a good job handling the pressure defense of Clay County).

“In the first half we were settling for three point shots (1 of 10 at the half). Clay County shot 12 free throws in the first half while the Generals went to the charity stripe only twice. This isn’t because the game was poorly officiated. “We were not attacking the paint,” reported Coach Parrett (some due to inexperience in big game situations and some due to nerves)

In the second half the Generals mentality shifted. The Generals shot 15 free-throws to Clay Counties 12 which indicated that the Generals had become the aggressor. “It was a valiant effort by the kids but unfortunately for us they total the score for all four quarters and not just the second half.” The Generals out scored Clay County by 10 points in the second half. This is definitely something for the young returning players to remember for future reference.

For the game the Generals were only 2 of 18 from the three-point line. Coach Parrett attributed this to poor shot selection and inexperience in big game situations. “For the season we have been shooting around 35 percent behind the arc but past experience shows that 3-point shooting percentages normally fall at tournament time. Hopefully the returning players are not satisfied with the results of this season and this loss and the pain of a premature season ending loss will instill a hunger in each individual player to work and improve their game in the off season like nothing else can. Players are made in the off-season while teams are made during the season.”

“On an individual note we want to wish our 3 seniors (Justin Fox, Adam Duncan and Josh Horn) a superior farewell. Hopefully the lessons and experiences they have drawn from competitive sports, family, and coaches will prepare them to be successful in life no matter which road they choose.”

“Justin Fox and Adam Duncan both surpassed the 1,000 point mark against Clay County in their final game as a General. These 3 seniors will be missed by all!”

“This season has been one of ups and downs. This team has grown and reached new heights all season long. Time ran out on this year before we reached our destiny but it has been a very eventful journey for the players and coaches. Knocking off number 17 (state ranked) Clinton County in Albany I am sure was the high light of the year as far as wins and losses. Expectations for the future of the Generals is at an all time high as we move forward from this season. Hopefully the players and coaches understand the work ethic and dedication that is required to reach their goals for Jackson County Basketball.”

“We want to thank all of the parents, fans and supporters who contributed in any form to the success of the generals this season. There have been many people involved in the success of each individual this season: teachers, administrators, parents, friends and others. To all God Bless and may all your Dreams become reality!” Coach Greg Parrett

Lady Generals Fall to Clay County in 49th District

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter

The Lady Generals carried a two game winning streak into the 49th District tournament to face the Lady Tigers of Clay County. The Lady Tigers are ranked #1 in the 13th region with a season record of 26-5. However, the Lady Generals played hard. Senior Laura Bowman went down with a knee injury early in the third quarter but was determined to finish her last game as a Lady General on the floor. She returned and played with heart and energy despite the fact that she was obviously in pain. Her dedication and commitment taught the younger players a lot about leadership and sacrifice.

The Lady Generals were defeated by a final score of 42-81. Despite the humbling loss the young Lady Generals gained valuable experience playing in the 49th District tournament.

Next year these young athletes will be better prepared to play against top competition in the region. Their day to shine is on its way and the 49th District had better watch out.

JCMS Colonels Fall to Corbin in Conference Tournament

Jerry Sparks
Senior Reporter
In Collaboration with Coach Brian Harris

The JCMS Colonels finished their season playing Rockcastle County. All three teams played well with the Colonels winning all three games by double digits. The 6th grade dominated from the outset with their best defensive effort in a long time.

The 7th grade struggled offensively early but played great defense and pulled away in the second half. It may have been the 7th grade squad’s best effort on the glass all year.

The 8th grade jumped out early but Rockcastle clawed there way back in before a hot shooting Colonels team pulled away in the second half. The group only had nine turnovers and capitalized with several offensive rebounds.

Colonels fall to Corbin by 7th in conference tourney...

“I really felt like we owed Corbin one because less than two weeks away they gave us a 35 point beating,” reported Coach Harris. “We played great defense during the first half and only trailed by one going into the half. We really made things difficult on the perimeter by pressuring their guards.

Bub Tillery had strep throat and was unable to play and another starting guard, Christian Bond fell illat halftime and was unable to play in the second half. We really missed Christian’s defensive effort in the second half. I felt like his first half effort was excellent and we truly missed him in the second half. Corbin capitalized on several open shots and we fell behind by twelve before rallying mid way through the second half to cut the lead to five. I felt like we had a chance to cut deeper into the lead but we just went ice cold. I’m really proud of this 8th grade group for the improvements they made. I felt like there was only one game all year that we didn’t compete in..they were able to triple their win total from last year. They end their season12-17. Many of the players struggled at times because we were asking them to play different positions than usual. Jargon Hignite and Jacob Anderson made strides throughout the season and I pushed them really hard at times. They both are really easy going laid back players and I pushed them to play as hard as possible on every possession. They both are very different players than they were early in the season. Both have potential and just need to be more assertive but both possess the skill needed to play at the high school level.

Glen Neeley learned to use his size and competed hard on every play. He is much improved over the course of the season...as I said earlier Christian Bond became a valuable team member by playing more aggressive and rebounding the ball. Two players that never got a lot of playing time but who worked hard every day were Kendall Person and Phillip Browning. Both were great teammates and never quit playing hard no matter when they entered the game or what the score was.

Several of the 7th graders were forced into double duty during the8th grade games. Zack Norris, Bub Tillery, Brandon Moore, Jacob Bingham, and Lucas Moore played a lot of valuable minutes with this group and never complained about playing back-to-back games.”

Congratulations to the Colonels for a great season!

JACKSON COUNTY BANK SURPRISES STUDENTS WITH SAVINGS ACCOUNT RAFFLE

Ben Gilbert of Jackson County Bank spoke to Jackson County Middle School students last month about credit and loans as part of a financial literacy program coordinated by the school and the newly awarded Promise Neighborhood grant. During the presentation bank president Kendall Norris, CEO of Jackson County Bank, called to announce that students listening to the presentation would be entered to win a $100 savings account. The winning student, Cheyenne Taylor, is pictured above with Mr. Gilbert, teacher Ronda Angel and vice principal James Morgan.

Mr. Gilbert was speaking to Ms. Ronda Angel's seventh grade math class about credit scores and loans as part of a two-day lesson on percentages and financial literacy. Students chose a dream car and calculated costs of bank loans based on income percentages and credit scores. Grace McKenzie, the school's academic specialist said "the students were really engaged and paying attention. They connected with the idea that having a low credit score meant you paid more money to the bank. It was exciting to watch them learn both math lessons and life lessons."

Ms. McKenzie is one of several academic specialists placed in Jackson County schools through the Berea College Promise Neighborhood grant. Academic specialists coordinate with teachers to expand opportunities for students and increase community partnerships. For more information about Ms. McKenzie's projects and events at Jackson County Middle School visit the school blog at <http://www.jackson.k12.ky.us/jcms/>.

JCPS Offers New Student Enrichment Program

Jackson County Public Schools is striving to increase student achievement by providing students with intervention and enrichment opportunities. One new initiative that Jackson County is implementing is Study Island. Study Island is a web-based program that is specifically designed to help students in grades 3-12 master their math, English/Language Arts, science and social studies skills. Study Island also provides resources for the elementary and middle school curriculum, and at the high school level Study Island provides teachers and students with specific resources to help students excel on the ACT as well as in Advanced Placement classes.

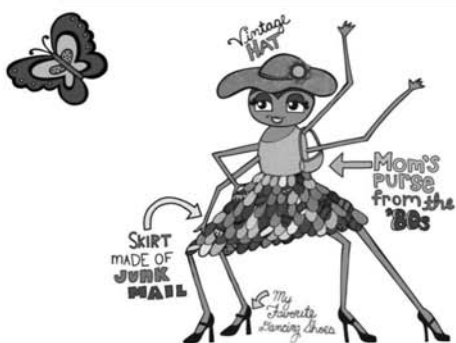

Study Island is very user-friendly. Students can access Study Island from any computer that has Internet access, from an I-Pad or tablet, or from a smart phone. Teachers assign students a content area and specific topics in Study Island. The assigned section will include a pretest and content specific questions that students are asked to answer. Each section also includes a study lesson and provides students with immediate feedback as they answer each question. In the event that students do not have Internet access, a hard copy of the activity can be provided to the student.

Study Island also has a "fun" side. As students progress through Study Island, they can earn "Blue Ribbons." Blue Ribbons are printable certificates that students can earn once they demonstrate mastery of a concept. Study Island also includes content-based games that the students can play as they work through the topics.

Study Island has been purchased with Title I funds, and the program is available at every school in the district. If you have any questions about Study Island, please contact your child's teacher.

Deadline nearing to apply for Jackson Energy's Washington Youth Tour

If you're a junior in high school who would like to get up close and personal with Washington, D.C. this summer, then don't miss the deadline to apply for Jackson Energy's Washington Youth Tour.

Junior students have until March 1 to apply for the Washington Youth Tour program, which is week-long trip filled with opportunities to learn first-hand what it is to be involved in politics, tour the nation's capital and meet with Congressional leaders. Youth Tour brings together more than 1,000 students from across the country to discuss government, learn about important issues facing their communities and visit historical sites.

But the trip is filled with much more than government and history. There's plenty of time to socialize with youth tour participants from other states and the almost 100 students from Kentucky who are also sponsored by their local electric cooperative.

The deadline to apply for the program is March 1st. Eligible students must be juniors in high school and their family need to be members of Jackson Energy Cooperative. Those selected to participate receive an all-expense-paid trip. Youth tour dates for 2012 are June 15-22.

Washington Youth Tour is sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, the Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives and 24 Kentucky electric distribution cooperatives, including Jackson Energy.

For an application, visit the co-op's website, www.jacksonenergy.com, or contact Jackson Energy Youth Services Director Haley McCoy at 1 800-262-7480 or via email, haleymccoy@jacksonenergy.com.

Jackson Energy's 2011 Youth Tour delegates were Lucas Isaacs, Jake Garrison, Kelsey Vickers, Chris Thompson and LaNeika Baker. The students posed for a photo near the Jefferson Memorial in Washington, D.C. during the trip. The deadline to apply for the 2012 Youth Tour is March 1.
